

Pastor's Corner

Holy Days. With all the attention on the election this week, many Catholics will forget the 2 great feasts we celebrate today and tomorrow: All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day. These days are particularly important because they remind us that the Church of Jesus Christ is more than just the people we see at Mass, or even the 2 billion plus Christians on Earth. Because countless numbers of Christians have lived and died before us, and many of those are in Heaven or on their way there.

This is what the Church means when it speaks of the "Communion of Saints"—using the word "saint" as it is most commonly used in Scripture, to refer to all Christians, both those living and those who have died in Christ. And so, the one Church of Christ has three states, or parts: first, all Christians on Earth ("The Pilgrim Church" or "The Church Militant"), second, all those in Heaven ("The Church in Glory" or "The Church Triumphant"), and third, all the souls in Purgatory ("The Church Being Purified" or "The Church Suffering").

All Saints' Day, today, November 1, is normally one of the five Holy Days of obligation, not including every Sunday, but of course this year we are dispensed from that obligation by our Bishop due to the Covid restrictions. Even so, All Saints remains one of the most important days of the Catholic year, especially because it reminds us of our unity with the Church in Heaven. Throughout the year we celebrate the feasts of particular "saints" whom the Church officially recognizes as now living in Heaven—these are "canonized saints." But on ALL Saints' Day we also remember ALL the other countless numbers of souls who have gone to Heaven, including, hopefully, many of our deceased parents and grandparents and so many of our little children who have gone before us. This is their feast day! So, we honor them, and pray to them, asking the whole multitude in Heaven to assist us on our way to join them.

All Souls' Day, tomorrow, November 2, remembers our unity with the Church in Purgatory. Unfortunately, nowadays even the mention of Purgatory often triggers reactions of disbelief or even ridicule—even among Catholics. Yet this dogma goes back to the Old Testament, as 2 Maccabees 12:39-46 makes very clear:

"But under the tunic of each of the dead they found amulets sacred to the idols of Jamnia, which the law forbids the Jews to wear. ...Turning to supplication, they prayed that the sinful deed might be fully blotted out. The noble Judas ... then took up a collection among all his soldiers, amounting to two thousand silver drachmas, which he sent to Jerusalem to provide for an expiatory sacrifice. In doing this he acted in a very excellent and noble way, inasmuch as he had the resurrection in mind; 44 for if he were not expecting the fallen to rise again, it would have been superfluous and foolish to pray for the dead. ...Thus he made atonement for the dead that they might be absolved from their sin."

Some see Purgatory as a place of horrible torture, or even a part of Hell, and the thought that their deceased loved ones could be there seems disrespectful, or even unbearable: they want to think of them as being happy in Heaven.

But remember, St. John tells us in Rev. 21:27 that "nothing imperfect shall enter into" Heaven. The thing is, who do you know that is perfect? Almost all of us have at least some venial sin we cling to, or have some inordinate attachment to earthly things. Does that mean that all of us imperfect people will not enter Heaven, and so go to Hell? Not at all. In His great love and mercy, the Lord takes all of us who die with any imperfections on our souls (but having, before dying, properly repented of any mortal—"deadly"—sins) and He perfects, or purifies, us. Another word for purification is "purgation," so this time/place/state of purification is called "Purgatory."

It is true that Purgatory is a place of suffering, hence it is referred to as the "Church Suffering." One way to understand this suffering is in the light of the suffering that comes with any change. For example, when we try to get into better physical shape, or when we try to learn a new subject, it's difficult, "painful" ("no pain, no gain"). But this pain is not something we should shun—in fact, the pain becomes a source of joy, as we begin to recognize it as a sign of change to a better state.

So, is it a surprise that the change from imperfect to perfect will be painful? Or that in spite of their suffering, St. Catherine of Genoa, after receiving a vision of Purgatory from Our Lord, wrote: "I believe no happiness can be ...compared with that of a soul in Purgatory except that of the saints in Paradise." The souls in Purgatory suffer, but they rejoice as it brings them closer to Heaven.

Even so, we must pray for the Souls in Purgatory—because they do suffer. Just as we try to help those we love on Earth by praying for them, we should continue to pray for them after death to help them on their way to perfection. Even if we hope or think they're already in heaven, we still owe them whatever help, in prayer, we can give them in death. So, even though it is not a day of obligation, the Church encourages us to attend Mass on All Souls' Day to offer that greatest prayer possible for the "Holy Souls."

Vote Like a Catholic. This Tuesday, November 3, Virginians go to the polls to elect our President, Vice-President, one U.S. Senator and all our U.S. Representatives (and to vote on some local referenda). Sadly, many, including many Catholics, will vote for candidates who embrace abortion, "same-sex marriage," and the undermining of religious liberty, common sense and reason. Many others will not vote at all. But as the Church teaches, not only must Catholics vote, they must vote like Catholics. This means placing priority on the most, "regarding fundamental values, such as respect for human life, its defense from conception to natural death, the family built upon marriage between a man and a woman, the freedom to educate one's children and the promotion of the common good in all its forms (230). These values are not negotiable" (Pope Benedict XVI, Sacramentum Caritatis, 83).

Adoration and Prayer for the Election. I invite all of you to attend our 50 Hours of Adoration to pray for God's will to prevail in the election. Adoration and Exposition begins in the church immediately after the 1pm Mass today (Sunday) and continues, throughout the night (except during Masses) until 7pm on Tuesday (election day). Please sign up online on our website to make sure we have all the hours covered (2 people need to be present at all times), but you can come anytime without signing up. I also ask you all to pray the Rosary today, tomorrow and Tuesday.

GOSPEL MT 5:1-12A

When Jesus saw the crowds, He went up the mountain, and after He had sat down, His disciples came to Him.

He began to teach them, saying:

“Blessed are the poor in spirit,
for theirs is the Kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are they who mourn,
for they will be comforted.

Blessed are the meek,
for they will inherit the land.

Blessed are they who hunger and thirst for
righteousness,

for they will be satisfied.

Blessed are the merciful,
for they will be shown mercy.

Blessed are the clean of heart,
for they will see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers,
for they will be called children of God.

Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of
righteousness,

for theirs is the Kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of evil against you falsely because of Me.

Rejoice and be glad,
for your reward will be great in heaven.”

Church Persecuted

Last week we cited a reflection by Bishop Emeritus Loverde where he listed the moral priorities guiding our decisions when entering the voting booth. These included: 1) protecting human life, (2) promoting family life, (3) pursuing social justice, and (4) practicing global solidarity. We continue with excerpts from his talk.

“We cannot simultaneously commit ourselves to human rights and progress while eliminating or marginalizing the weakest among us” (Living the Gospel of Life, U.S. Bishops, 1988, #20) For example, how can we expect a political candidate to protect a society from injustice, if he or she supports the taking of the life of a nearly born child, in a procedure known as partial-birth abortion?

“While we must support each of the four tiers...the [2nd, 3rd, and 4th] are meaningless without the first: the respect for the dignity of each human person... ‘Human life must be defended in all places and at all times.’ (Living the Gospel of Life, U.S. Bishop’s Conference, 1988 #33). By electing those who defend human life, we will be faithful citizens, caring for the most important of God’s creation – the human person – in the womb, in the family, in society, and in the world.”

Abortion is front and center in the voting booth next Tuesday.

(Arlington Catholic Herald, 11/2/2000, p. 3)
